STOCK MARKET DEVELOPMENTS

Most international stock markets recorded positive gains in April 2015, buoyed by the International Monetary Fund's anticipated positive outlook for advanced economies in 2015. The major US equity benchmarks reached record highs in April 2015, before falling back at the end of the month and ending with modest gains. A rebound in oil prices led to strong performance for energy shares and telecommunication services stocks. US stock prices declined late in the month, following the release of data showing that the economy had grown at an annual rate of 0.2% in the first quarter. This growth was well below market expectations.

In tandem, most major African stock markets traded positively in April 2015, with the exception of Kenya's Nairobi Securities Exchange which registered losses. Bearish conditions continued on the Zimbabwe stock market, with the industrial index declining from 158.22 points in March 2015, to 156.26 points in April 2015. Over the same period, the mining index also declined from 43.93 points to 42.93 points.

The decline in the industrial index largely reflected thin trading on the local bourse during the month under review. The mining index was weighed down by losses in Hwange and Riozim.

Trading volumes increased by 38.91% to 563.83 million shares in April 2015, from 405.88 million shares in March 2015. The volume of shares traded in April 2015 was largely driven by special bargain trades in Dawn and RTG shares, as well as notable trades in CBZH, Delta and Econet. Market turnover also increased from US$18.90 million in March 2015, to US$29.19 million in April 2015.

The spike in both the volume and value traded of shares on 10th April 2015, was as a result of a block trade in Dawn shares of 456 586 884 at US0.02 cents per share.

In line with the downward trend in industrial and mining indices, market capitalisation declined from US$4 117.08 million in March 2015, to US$4 066.07 million in April 2015.

MONETARY DEVELOPMENTS

Broad money supply increased by 1.57% from US$4 370.32 million in March 2015, to US$4 438.84 million in April 2015. On an annual basis, however, growth in broad money declined from 6.75% in March 2015, to 4.93% in April 2015.

Source: Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe

The annual growth in broad money was mainly driven by increases in long term deposits, of 41.45%; and savings deposits, 13.40%. Short term deposits registered a decline of 2.50% over the same period. The structure of deposits remained largely the same, with demand deposits accounting for 46.29%; long term, 22.23%; short term, 17.95%; and savings deposits, 13.50% of total deposits.

Bank credit to the domestic economy increased by 9.15% to US$ 4 529.78 million in April 2015, from US$4 371.03 million in March 2015.

On a year-on-year basis, growth in credit to the private sector was 4.6% in April 2015, down from 4.20% in March 2015. The monthly growth of credit to the private sector, however, marginally increased by 0.01% from US$3 761.81 million in March 2015, to US$3 762.04 million in April 2015.

During the month of April 2015, loans and advances constituted 82.30% of the total credit to the private sector, followed by mortgages advanced by building societies, 13.87%; other investments, 1.71%; bills discounted, 1.17%; and bankers' acceptances, 0.90%.

On a sectoral basis, credit was distributed as follows: agriculture (18.54%); services (17.27%); manufacturing (15.26%); distribution (15.06%); mining (6.75%); transport and communications (3.07%); and construction (1.02%). Consumptive borrowing by households remained high at 18.38% of total credit to the private sector in April 2015.

Credit to the private sector was mainly channelled towards asset purchases, 47.33%; inventory build-up, 32.61%; consumer durables, 11.33%; and vehicle purchases, 2.84%. Credit to the private sector for capital development remained depressed accounting for 5.15% of total loans and advances. The procurement of plant and equipment, land development, and office equipment, accounted for 3.76%, 0.86% and 0.53%, respectively, of total loans and advances.

INFLATION OUTTURN

Annual Inflation

Annual headline inflation remained in negative territory, decelerating further from -1.2% in March 2015 to -2.65% in April 2015. The continued decline in annual inflation was driven by both food and non-food inflation.

Source: Zimbabwe Statistics Agency

Annual food inflation remained in negative territory, declining further to -2.9% in April 2015, from -2.7% in March 2015. This was largely due to declines in the prices of bread and cereals, meat and vegetables, among other food items.

The decline in meat prices was partly on account of an increase the supply of beef and poultry products in the domestic market. Monthly poultry output increased by 24% to about 11 000 tonnes in 2014, and this growth trend was maintained during the first quarter of 2015. In addition, the drought experienced during the 2014/15 agricultural season reduced grazing pastures in the main beef producing areas of Matebeleland, Midlands, Masvingo and northern parts of Mashonaland provinces. This, together with the anticipated shortage of food in 2015, has triggered destocking of the beef herd, thereby depressing meat prices.

Annual non-food inflation recorded a significant decline from -0.44% in March to -2.5% in April 2015. The sharp decline was mainly on the back of declines in communication; education; housing, water, electricity, gas and other fuels; furniture and equipment; recreation and culture; restaurants and hotels; and transport. Partially offsetting the decline in the annual non-food inflation were increases in alcoholic beverages and tobacco and health services.

Monthly Inflation

Month-on-month inflation, which stood at -0.03% in March 2015, retreated further to -0.89% in April 2015, on account of declines in both food and non-food inflation.

Month on month food inflation fell to -0.6% in April 2015, from -0.03% in March 2015. The decline in monthly food inflation was largely driven by the fall in prices of bread and cereals, meat and sugar, jam, honey, chocolate, and confectionery, among other items.

Similarly, monthly non-food inflation decelerated to -1.0% in April 2015, from -0.03% in March 2015, weighed down by declines in the cost of housing, gas and liquid fuels, furniture and equipment, clothing and footwear and transport services. Partly offsetting these declines were increases in education, restaurants and hotel services.

In the outlook period, inflation developments in the domestic economy will continue to be influenced by international oil prices, US$/rand exchange rate, domestic and regional food output, as well as the level of aggregate demand in the economy.
